The end rush problem, so acute a couple of weeks ago, seems to have been solved in, Ballin. He was chosen out of a large number of candidates for the position, and displays speed, tacking ability, and other of the general requisites for an end man. In the opinion of many he is equal to Welch, who is a veteran at the position, and will be played, probably, in the Dartmouth and Yale games.

At the other line positions there is little doubt as to who will play. McCrohan is in his last year of intercollegiate football, and he is playing a better game than ever. He can be relied upon perhaps more than any other masted flag proclaiming the reason for the cessation of the academic activi-ties. Do. ptd. New York, Nov. 1.—Operations in the stock market today were of an exceedingly desultory character and the interest in the speculation was very languid. The one day of business intervening before the election day holi-day had a deterrent effect on the trad-ers and there was no participation in the market. The observance of the All Saints' holiday in London and Paris today also subtracted materially from the volume of the day's business and deprived the market of an index of sentiment on the international monof sentiment on the international money outlook, which is much relied on at present. The money markets sentencouraging news from abroad and this was a prime factor in the early rise in prices here. There was some selling on Saturday on the apprehension that the Imperial Bank of Germany would advance its official discount rate today and the fact that the rate was left undisturbed prompted some covering of shorts by those sellers. The weekly statement of the German bank disclosed some heavy inroads on resources incident to the Noman bank disclosed some heavy in-roads on resources incident to the No-vember, sattlements and the private discount rate in Berlin rose a fraction. The Bank of England secured all of the $3,500,000 South African gold ar-riving in the London market without riving in the London market without competition and at a further recession in the price, which wipes out, in effect, the recent premium over the obligatory price to be paid by the bank which has prevalled while other centers were competing for London's gold supply. This was looked upon as gratifying evidence of the satisfactory progress of the recuperation in the Bank of England condition which was insisted upon down; beautiful and as firm by the board of governors. The effect was helpful to the New York stock market, notwithstanding the absence of direct operations in the local stock market in behalf of London. There was a striking diversion of speculative effort to low priced industrial stocks and specialties, while the more promiand specialties, while the more promi-nent trading stocks were neglected. The minor members of the steel group, especially the railroad equipment stocks, were conspicuous. The influx of new orders for equipment from the railroads was partly responsible for this movement, which was based also on the smaller proportion of the ad-vance hitherto made in these stocks compared with the premier steel stock. 14200 Southern taits B vance hitherto made in these stocks compared with the premier steel stock. Something was made of the reports of large sales of copper metal within the last few days, but the copper industrials did not hold well and sagged with the receipt of copper quotations from London showing a decline in prices. The speculation looked somewhat askance at the terms announced for the new Pennsylvania stock issue, which was at a lower price than had heen anticipated. As between the increased value of the subscription rights to the individual stockholders and the low credit for the corporation involved in the issue at par of a stock selling in the market in the neighborhood of in the issue at par of a stock selling in the market in the neighborhood of 148 the appraisement of the operation was somewhat confused. The resort to a stock issue at all in place of a bond issue is testimony to the faulty investment demand for fixed interest bearing securifies which has been remarked in the bond market throughout the latter stages of the active speculative demand for stocks. The six per cent. dividend rate now existing on Pennsylvania railroad stock and left unchanged by today's declaration represents, if maintained, a high rate to pay for new capital. The proceeds are to provide for the payment of $40,000,000 of collateral notes which bore five per cent, and of $20,000,000 of six per cent, bonds falling due next year. The stock market tone became somewhat drooping after the news of the Pennsylvania directors' action. Bonds were irregular.

Guests Received by Ghosts.

Miss Maude Simpson of Fremont street entertained a party numbering twenty at a Halloween celebration on Saturday evening. Upon arriving the guests were greeted by a ghost who silently ushered them through the dimity lighted reception hall and up stairs. There they were mer by two other ghosts who motioned them to the respective cloak rooms. Upon returning to the reception hall the guests were again greeted by the three silent ghosts, each holding a tray of beautiful chrysanthemums, one of the blossoms being presented to each guest. Upon entering the parlor, also lighted only by Jack O'Lanterns, the guests almost felt that the elfs were about, as the most weird strains of a Chinese song from a phonograph reached their ears. This was followed by the three ghosts chanting an unearthly hymn in which they mounded and groaned and suddenly shrieked. The three ghosts, impersonated by the Misses Simpson, Tarr and Paine, entertained by several sketches. Miss Olive Smith of New York, formerly with the Old Jed Prouty company, gave a clever dance. Supper of chicken patties, sandwiches, olives, cheese, ice cream, cake and coffee was served, during which all unolives, cheese, ice cream, cake and cof-fee was served, during which all un-masked. The remainder of the even-ing was heartily enjoyed in typical Hallowe'en tricks of bobbing for ap-ples, guessing games and many pranks.

Dennis Barnett has just bought a valuable coon dog, and with a party of friends tried him out Saturday night. No coons were located, but about midnight the dog got on the scent of a deer. All the attempts of the party to call him off were unavailing, and coon hunting was at an end.

There were but four deaths recorded during October: Edward N. Cross, cerebrai hemorrhage; Rudoit Jasak, men-ingitis; James A. Bicknell, nephritis; Leon Bussiere, cerebrai meningitis.

No Firemen's Muster.

In view of the necessary personal expenes to the members and the risk of adverse climatic conditions it has been decided by the fire company and a committee appointed to confer with them that a firemen's muster would not be a successful undertaking at this season of the year. It was the plan that a firemen's muster day would be a most advantageous time for a tagday, the proceeds to go to the soldiers' monument fund. The tag day idea was conceived by the Whatsoever Circle of the King's Daughters of the Baptist church and was brought before the borough government and the firemen, with results as stated.

Gifts for Retiring Foreman. George Moeller, retired foreman of the printing department of Aspinool the printing department of Aspinook bleachery, was surprised Saturday night by a visit from the eight printers from the bleachery. They brought with them a Morris chair, upholstered in red plush, and a briar pipe, which were presented Mr. Moeller by William Beardwood in a speech which expressed the regret caused by his resignation, of the associate printers, and their best wishes for his future. Mr. Moeller thanked the donors with heartfelt appreciation.
